Course Comments:
Yes it was done very well. Nothing to improve it.
Very well done. Lecture was very entertaining.
Topics were stimulating. Appreciated leaving basic finance, accounting, etc.
The instructor always came well prepared and kept the class exciting. He also explained concepts very clearly and made it easy to understand. I have no suggestions for improvement.
The homework was challenging, but it was extremely helpful for the tests and understanding the material. However, I would not have included the data portions of the homework which were tedious and a little advanced for the course.
The course was very informative and thought-provoking. It better helped me understand much of how the world works. The material was boring at times, but that is a personal opinion that cannot really be changed.
The course was extremely well structured, but some other types of class activities would have helped to break up the constant notes. Towards the end of the class with the examples you did to show how banks worked, etc, were very helpful and helped me remain engaged.
The course was done well. It was well organized and I believe the tests were relatively reflective of the material.
The course material was very interesting and diversified.
The course had clear objectives throughout and was very informative. However, at the beginning a lot of people dropped the class because it was very intimidating at first, so I think it would be helpful to give students more guidance from the beginning to help them stay in the class.
The course at first was very confusing and difficult, but after the first few weeks I knew how to do well in class and on assignments, so I learned more and felt more engaged. The course was at many times very conversational, and the instructor used examples that were very helpful to explain concepts, so I enjoyed learning in this class as opposed to feeling forced to learn.
The class was interesting and engaging. The topics were linked to current events and great visuals were given to understand the past.
Really great class. Enjoyed it a lot more than ECON2106H. I really liked the use of the Facebook page so we could easily discuss / ask questions with the professor and other students. I really liked how the exams were progressively worth more and how we also had homework and a book report as grades. Overall, great class and really enjoyed it, learned a lot, and it sparked my interest in Econ.
Overall I thought the course was set up very well. The problem sets are very helpful in understanding the material. The only thing I would change is having more tests. For me personally, having more tests helps me remember the information more.
Loved this course. No suggestions for improvement.
Information was given clearly and explained thoroughly. Some topics could be a bit confusing even after lots of explanation. The course material was so broad that sometimes it was overwhelming.
I like the non-scantron, short answer style exams.
I enjoyed this class. It encouraged me to think about the underlying issues with the United States economy, in particular. The topics were clear and built off each other well. Additionally, there was a nice mixture of methods used in the material; we used formulas, graphs, and just basic concepts.
I am not a maths person but I was able to follow the content and do well on the homeworks and tests, for the most part. I enjoyed the class more than I thought I would, particularly the book report.
Great

Instructor Comments:
Very funny and approachable, overall a great instructor who clearly knows his stuff, I would recommend him to a friend and hope to take him again.
Topics were clearly explained. The class tended to drift off topic with the discussions, which caused us to have to rush through some concepts.
This was my favorite course this semester, because the instructor was so passionate about the subject. He cares about his students and wanted to see them succeed.
This was an intro to Macroeconomics class, and the teacher did an excellent job of teaching it to students who weren't necessarily Economics majors. He also did a very good job of explaining it in a way to make it interesting.
The professor did a great job of gauging our attention span. He kept the class interesting. Distractions were well-timed and actual increased focus and interest.
the instructor was very knowledgeable and a very good teacher
The instructor was really great at engaging the students. He was clearly very interested and enthusiastic about teaching the course, and that made the students more engaged and interested in the subject matter as well. The way he started off the course seemed very disorganized at first, and I was very intimidated. Then once we started making connections between the different subjects and we warmed up to him, the class became very enjoyable. He was very friendly and always open for helping out with questions.
Professor Garin was awesome. He's my favorite professor I've had. I wish he was in the accounting department so I could take more of his classes in the future.
Professor Garin was an awesome teacher who did a good job keeping us engaged and teaching real-life applications to what we were learning. He was always available to us if we needed help. He was enthusiastic every day and I don't think he needs to change anything.
Loved this course. No suggestions for improvement.
Loved him
I liked the professor a lot. He was personable and friendly without being a pushover or seeming like he was trying too hard to get us to like him. Sometimes he covered content very quickly but was always willing to go back over it when we asked.
He always made sure everyone was following and strongly encouraged questions in class to make sure we all understood.
Great professor! Professor Garin is so funny, and he really knows what he is talking about. Having the notes beforehand was really helpful because I could just fill them in during class. He was always available for office hours, and he always notified us when he was running late. The homework could be difficult, particularly the data sections. I also enjoyed the book report that was specific to this course.
Favorite professor. Perfect balance of brevity and seriousness
Everything was done well, no complaints.
Dr. Garin was super enthusiastic. I thoroughly enjoyed his joking spirit and fun attitude, but he was also very well accustomed to teaching the material, and new what he was talking about.
Dr. Garin was one of my favorite professors so far in Terry or the honors program. He was very knowledgeable and passionate about teaching, and he was always willing to help outside of class, in class, or on the Facebook group. Awesome professor!
Dr. Garin was a great professor overall. He made the class that could otherwise be boring interesting and entertaining, and he related it to things happening in our world today. The main thing I think he could improve on is providing more feedback on graded items instead of just marking things wrong, but he was willing to answer any questions about them, and it helped him grade our assignments for quickly.
Dr. Garin did a great job of clearly presenting the material and allowing questions. He would make sure everyone understood a concept before moving on, which is cool.
